

In good times or bad no merchant can afford to let his business drag

EVENING BULLETIN

3:30 O'CLOCK

PEOPLE WHO BUY GOODS READ THE BULLETIN

EDITION

Nowadays We Make a

BULLETIN WANT AD.

our Envoy, and within the space of twenty-four hours we have been present. By Envoy, at a thousand firesides—in a thousand private homes. Our story has been told, by proxy, to A MAJORITY of the people in the city who could not by any other means, be induced to take an interest in it.

STEAMER TABLE.

From San Francisco	Sept. 28
Alameda	Sept. 28
Siberia	Sept. 28
For San Francisco	Sept. 25
Nippon Maru	Sept. 25
Alameda	Oct. 3
From Vancouver	Oct. 20
Aorangi	Oct. 20
For Vancouver	Oct. 17
Moana	Oct. 17

Vol. XVIII No 3497

HONOLULU, TERRITORY OF HAWAII WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1906

PRIOR 5 CENTS

Taft Asks Palma To Remain In Office

DID HER BEST TO HELP MONGOLIA

The captain of the Ane-gawa states that his vessel not only stood by the stranded Mongolia, but it also hid all in its power to pull her off the reef which held her. As a matter of fact the Ane-gawa did not desist in her efforts until after she had broken every rope and cable she had on board, and consequently could do nothing further. This same circumstance is given as the principal reason for the vessel's anchoring off the harbor instead of coming into port, as she has no ropes on board to be used for mooring her. Arrangements are, however, being made at present to supply the ship with the necessary lawers. Another reason given by the Ane-gawa's commander for leaving the Mongolia in her plight, is the fact that after he had been expending much of his fuel in his attempt to pull the steamship off, the training ship had only 600 tons left in her bunkers, which was not more than enough to take her to Honolulu.

SONS AND DAUGHTERS OF NIPPON GATHER TO CHEER CONVERTED CRUISER ANEGAWA

The Japanese training ship Ane-gawa arrived in the harbor at about 10 o'clock this morning, having come from the Orient after a short stop at Midway.

All the Japanese population of the city was waiting for her anxiously, and when she came off the harbor crowds were down on the wharves or aboard sampans and launches and everything else in the harbor that would float. Everywhere waved the flags of Japan. Every little sampan bore a string of brilliant crimson and of white. Above the quarantine wharf they were clustered in a swarm—big flags with the blood-red center, little ones twinkling and snapping in the breeze,—and every boat full of excited, gayly clad subjects of the Mikado.

And her officers present as neat an appearance as those of the navy of any nation of the world. As she came in this morning they were dressed in white, as were also her crew.

They look sailors, all of them, despite the fact that the vessel is a training ship and manned largely with sailors who are little more than boys.

The Ane-gawa was not always a Japanese vessel. Up to the siege of Port Arthur during the late war between Japan and Russia she flew the flag of the Russian Emperor. But a shell from a Japanese battery lying back on the hills behind the besieged fortress crashed through her, and she sank. Fortunately, for the Japanese, she went down in shallow water. Her stern was scarcely below the water, and so, when the war was ended and the little brown men were masters of the fortress, she was raised and the damages done to her by Japanese shells were repaired.

The Russians used the vessel as a temporary hospital. She was not under the charge of the Red Cross, however.

The ship's name, when the Russians had her, was the Angra. The Japanese changed it to the Ane-gawa. Now she is used as a training ship for the Japanese navy, and is manned by nearly 500 embryo officers of that nation. Her commander is Captain Hanafusa.

Many of the officers of the Ane-gawa participated in the siege of Port Arthur, while a number of others were present and took part in the battle of the Sea of Japan.

The Ane-gawa is a vessel of about 7000 tons gross measurement and of something over 10,000 tons displacement. Her armament consists of four six-inch guns, four three-inch and four other guns of smaller caliber. She is entirely unprotected.

And the Japanese employed on the outside plantations will all be there already they are coming into town. Yesterday afternoon there might have been seen traversing one of the roads leading into the city a Japanese of enormous stature. He was dressed in the most elaborate uniform, with more gold braid than an admiral. The man had been a cavalrman in the Russo-Japanese war, and his presence was necessary to complete the preparations for the reception of the other heroes of the war. He strode with a proud and martial air, for he was, for the time being, no longer a plantation hand. He was a hero, a man who had fought for the Mikado.

Long, black and forbidding, the Ane-gawa lies off the harbor. She presents nothing of the bright appearance of an American warship in time of peace. She is painted a dark slate gray, so dark that she appears almost black. But aboard of her, everything is as neat as aboard any vessel of the United States. The brass shines with constant polishing. The decks are white.

And her officers present as neat an appearance as those of the navy of any nation of the world. As she came in this morning they were dressed in white, as were also her crew.

They look sailors, all of them, despite the fact that the vessel is a training ship and manned largely with sailors who are little more than boys.

The Ane-gawa was not always a Japanese vessel. Up to the siege of Port Arthur during the late war between Japan and Russia she flew the flag of the Russian Emperor. But a shell from a Japanese battery lying back on the hills behind the besieged fortress crashed through her, and she sank. Fortunately, for the Japanese, she went down in shallow water. Her stern was scarcely below the water, and so, when the war was ended and the little brown men were masters of the fortress, she was raised and the damages done to her by Japanese shells were repaired.

The Russians used the vessel as a temporary hospital. She was not under the charge of the Red Cross, however.

The ship's name, when the Russians had her, was the Angra. The Japanese changed it to the Ane-gawa. Now she is used as a training ship for the Japanese navy, and is manned by nearly 500 embryo officers of that nation. Her commander is Captain Hanafusa.

Many of the officers of the Ane-gawa participated in the siege of Port Arthur, while a number of others were present and took part in the battle of the Sea of Japan.

The Ane-gawa is a vessel of about 7000 tons gross measurement and of something over 10,000 tons displacement. Her armament consists of four six-inch guns, four three-inch and four other guns of smaller caliber. She is entirely unprotected.

And the Japanese employed on the outside plantations will all be there already they are coming into town. Yesterday afternoon there might have been seen traversing one of the roads leading into the city a Japanese of enormous stature. He was dressed in the most elaborate uniform, with more

The vessel comes to Honolulu on account of the great amount of sunshine in these waters. Part of the training of her men, of course, consists in practice in taking observations. But where she comes from there is so much cloudy weather that it is difficult for a sufficient amount of practice of this kind to be had. In the waters of the Hawaiian Islands the sun shines every day. Consequently, the Ane-gawa has come here to take advantage of the favorable weather conditions. She will remain here about three weeks, according to present plans, when she will go to Korea direct.

The reception committee, consisting of the Japanese consul and a number of the most prominent Japanese of Honolulu, went out to the ship this morning. There was no great formality, the Honolulu subjects of the Mikado merely expressing their pleasure at having a warship of their sovereign visit this city. Their stay aboard the vessel, however, was rather lengthy, many of them remaining aboard the larger part of the afternoon.

Extensive preparations for the entertainment of the officers and men of the Ane-gawa are being made by the local Japanese, and a great time is planned.

STENSLAND PEACHES

New York, Sept. 25.—Stensland, the missing Chicago bank president, who was apprehended in Morocco, waived extradition and admitted his guilt. His statement incriminates others.

ARRIVED.

Wednesday, September 26.
Japanese training ship Ane-gawa from Tokio, 10 a. m.

DEPARTED.

Wednesday, September 26.
Stmr. Enterprise, Youngs, for San Francisco at 12 o'clock.
Stmr. Iwaland, Pittz, for Sheridan wreck, at 3 p. m.

Shortly before the Shah was ill there arrived from Paris an automobile. Almost before it was unpacked his majesty wished to see it worked. "Sire," said the grand vizier, "there is no spirit available for the motor." "No spirit!" exclaimed the Shah. "And my old cognac of 1868. Get some flasks of it." And the Persian monarch's automobile was heated with cognac at $2 the flask.

Fine Job Printing at the Bulletin office.

DE BOLT SAYS VIDA DID DUTY

The failure of Deputy Sheriff Jack Kaiakiela to perform his duty in summoning jurors before the court when instructed to do so was once more the subject of sharp criticism on the part of Judge De Bolt, who raked him over the coals severely this morning, going to the extent of ordering the bailiff of his court to summon jurors into court by telephone, saying as he did it: "If the Deputy Sheriff is unable to find this man we will get him by telephone and let him find the Deputy Sheriff."

In a private conversation outside the courtroom this morning, Judge De Bolt commented on the way in which the office of Deputy Sheriff is conducted at present in comparison to the way it used to be conducted when Henry Vida held the office. He said: "When Vida was Deputy Sheriff there was never any trouble of this kind. In the present case there has been one venire which was not summoned at all and two more which have only been summoned in part, the officer failing to find more than a small part of the men who were called for. When Henry Vida was Deputy he always had his men here on time. He did his work no matter whether it took a little extra time or not.

"If it was necessary to get out at night and serve the summons he was ready to do so and did it on many occasions. His work was always well done and there was no cause of complaint, as there is in the present case, where we have already spent almost three days without being able to pick out a jury and simply on account of the fact that the men named in the venire have not been brought into court."

Hearst Their Man

(Associated Press Special Cable)
BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The Democratic Convention is awaiting committee reports. The nomination of William Randolph Hearst for Governor is predicted.

HEARST THE NOMINEE
Buffalo, Sept. 25.—Wm. Randolph Hearst is the probable nominee of the Democratic party for Governor.

PALMA WILL RESIGN
Havana, Sept. 25.—The Government is determined to abdicate and compel intervention, rather than compromise with the rebels. President Palma has called Congress to convene Friday and consider the resignations of himself and the Capote cabinet.

Unanimous For Hughes

(Associated Press Special Cable)
BARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Chas. E. Hughes, who so successfully prosecuted the insurance investigation, was nominated for Governor by the Republicans today. The nomination was by acclamation.

Ask Palma To Remain

(Associated Press Special Cable)
HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 25.—Secretary Taft is trying to induce President Palma to reconsider his resignation.

MARINES FOR CUBA
Washington, Sept. 25.—Fifteen hundred marines have been ordered to Cuba and by the end of the week a force of 7000 will be ready to land.

TROOPS TO BE SENT
Oyster Bay, Sept. 25.—Plans for the dispatch of troops to Cuba have been completed.

Alfaro Plotters

GUAYAQUIL, Sept. 25.—A conspiracy to overthrow Alfaro has been discovered and many conspirators arrested.

BATHING CAPS

THE VERY LATEST IN THIS LINE JUST RECEIVED.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE "Kerchief" Cap?

HOLLISTER DRUG CO
ESTABLISHED 1879

Apply Torch To Property

ST. PETERSBURG, Russia, Sept. 25.—Agrarian disorders have broken out in the Viatka province. The people are pillaging and burning property.

Typhoons In Luzon

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 25.—During a typhoon in the Cagayan Valley of Luzon on the 18th inst. several towns were destroyed and a few lives lost. A typhoon at Laguna on the 22d destroyed property to the value of $150,000.

Prison For Stensland

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 25.—Former President Stensland of the Milwaukee National Bank appeared in court today and pleaded guilty to the charge of embezzlement and fraud lodged against him. He was sentenced to an indeterminate term in the State prison at Joliet.

We Have The Exclusiveness

In clothes to meet your desire. We have had the proper qualities right along, even those of ultra-fashionable cut. Considering the very reasonable price at which good clothes are sold nowadays, there is no excuse for any man not to be dressed in accord with Fashion.

THE KASH CO., LTD.
TEL. MAIN 25.
CORNER FORT AND HOTEL STS.

Guardianship

carries with it many burdens and responsibilities which are apt to prove harassing to the busy man. We act as guardian, executor or administrator when called upon to do so.

Hawaiian Trust Company, Ltd.
Fort St. Honolulu

FURNITURE

At Your Own Price

The old established furniture house of J. HOPP & CO., the store in the Young Building, which recently bought the stock of furniture which belonged to the Porter Furniture Co., which is retiring from business, have placed on sale at J. HOPP & CO.'s stores the entire stock of Porter's at prices which have never been placed on furniture here before.

Closing Out The Stock

The Porter Furniture Co. had a stock which included some high grade goods. We will "murder" these. We have a new lot of new furniture due to arrive here and must put Porter's stock out of the way.

Porter's Stock At Your Figures

REMEMBER THE PLACE!
J. HOPP & CO.,
1053-1056-1065 YOUNG BUILDING BISHOP STREET.

The safety of your valuable papers is our salvation. Either is cheap at Five Dollars a year when it comes in a safe-deposit box.

HENRY WATERHOUSE TRUST CO

Why Is It

you hear so many merchants complain about business being so bad? There must be a reason for it. Our business is good and has been better this year than for a long time and there's a Reason for this too. We give our customers more value than elsewhere. Our shoes wear better than others. Our prices can't be compared. We consider the Quality, Fit, Durability, Style and Looks of a shoe before buying. Why shouldn't you?

Manufacturers Shoe Co., Ltd.,
1051 Fort Street. Phone Main 282